Hu Min

Shanghai's art market has shown great potential in attracting overseas artists who have expressed strong interest in bringing their masterpieces to the city amid eased COVID-19 prevention and control measures.

Russian contemporary artist Marina Fedorova, who exhibited her artworks at the 10th ART021 Shanghai Contemporary Art Fair last month at the Shanghai Education Center, will present a joint online exhibition with artworks from her "Cosmodreams" series, running through Dec 30 on the ART021 official website.

At an interview with Shanghai Daily, Fedorova gives a "thumb-up" to the art market of China.

"Luxury is no longer just about exclusivity. It's about experience." Sensory engagement plays a crucial role in refining brand perception, making every interaction feel bespoke and personal. From the scent of a boutique to the textures of a product display, the soundscapes in a salon or the curated lighting in a high-end retail space, each element is designed to invoke emotion. "This level of sensory marketing makes the shopping experience so much more memorable; when customers feel emotionally connected, they stay loyal to a product," they say. See a lifestyle, says Saloni Nethi, co-founder of Tresind and the founder of Queen's Beauty Lounge.

Experiential shopping is the new luxury and it has become an essential part of how brands connect with their customers, especially in the luxury world. While food and retail is a powerful art, it is coming up in a big way. For one thing, there has been a rise in the number of collaborations between luxury brands and contemporary artists. This crossover can be exciting and mutually beneficial: it introduces art to a wider audience, and artists need platforms to express themselves. "Artists are the ones who can bring a different dimension to just sell gummies — they're evolving the art of art. And yes, they are already redefining the shopping experience, particularly for those who are curious and open to experiencing."

While international brands like LVMH and Dior are already railing at what it comes to experiential shopping — there's a line-up of LVMH-based brands curating some futuristic experiences. Take, for example, jewellery and paving brand Klemet by Milles.

"We focus on offering unique, personalized experiences that go beyond just purchasing jewellery. Our stores have dedicated planning teams, with Boutiques can be therapeutic, but shoppers are craving more. And so creators of luxury brands are going to work harder to offer innovative shopping experiences to their target market. Experiential retail not only engages the consumer but also creates nostalgia and sensory experiences one cannot possibly imagine. To captivate the audience and connect with them on an emotional level, brands are making the stores unique, dynamic, meaningful, and most importantly, Instagrammable!

"We're living in an incredibly fascinating time where boundaries between the physical and digital are blurring, and immersive experiences have become a natural part of our everyday lives. What once felt like a game (remember the Pokémon Go craze?) has now evolved into a whole new way of interacting with the world around us," says Dubai-based Marina Fedorova, artist and creative mind behind Cosmodrama.

Marina Fedorova's cosmic dreams expand boundaries of the possible

Cosmogenesis: Elements was an exhibition project hosted recently in Faria & Roche galleries, Dubai. Conceived by artist Marina Fedorova, the innovative presentation took one into an apocalyptic world, reflecting her perception of cosmic space and her thoughts on the universe.

Informed by augmented reality features, and a virtual museum, the exhibition offered interactive properties. Cosmogenesis was not only in the form of a series of large-scale paintings, but also sculptures and other forms. To ensure all pieces of the puzzle puzzle fit together, a viewer had to explore each thematic cluster sequentially.

An ultra-high-definition VR video, Space Art Odyssey was based on Fedorova's script and visual sketches and was on independent artwork within the Cosmogenesis universe. For Marina, space is not only a cosmic diversity, but also is metaphysical space. All, including people of different generations and backgrounds, art connoisseurs, technology buffs and those tracking space news, can indulge it.

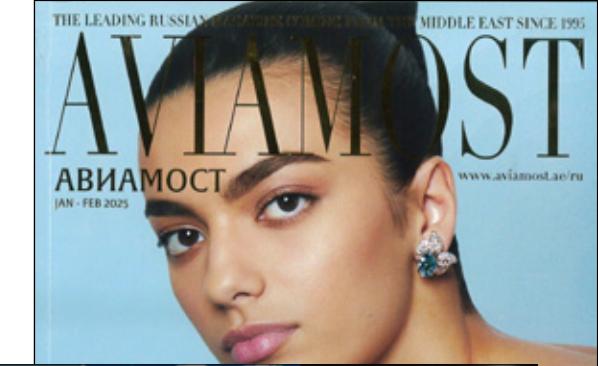

Cosmic Visions

Technology meets art in international artist Marina Fedorova's "Cosmogenesis" exhibition at the Faria & Roche gallery in Dubai. The exhibition, which opened in March, features Fedorova's artworks, including a series of large-scale paintings, sculptures, and a VR video titled "Space Art Odyssey".

The exhibition explores the theme of "cosmogenesis", where the artist uses technology to create a virtual reality experience for visitors. The VR video, "Space Art Odyssey", allows visitors to explore the artworks in a 3D environment, providing a unique perspective on the artworks.

Fedorova's artworks are inspired by her love of science fiction and her desire to create a sense of wonder and awe in her audience. Her artworks often feature intricate details and complex compositions, reflecting the complexity of the universe.

Ruskin Art
by Lauren Carter

Lauryn is a self-taught resin artist from London who has moved to Dubai to expand her work and extend her wings. She is fortunate to have studios in both London and Dubai where she works on her paintings, custom designs, and resin art. Resin and other substances are used in her resin art, which is inspired by Geode Crystals. Her resin pieces add an impact to any room they are placed in. This modern art is very unique and beautiful because of the high shine of resin and the sparkle of the crystals and glass. She always uses the highest quality materials, including special requests for real gold leaf, natural diamonds, and a collection of color stones—berries, rubies, finest Colombian emeralds, and so on. The possibilities are endless when it comes to creating a piece of jewelry or art. She believes that when one crafts with genuine love and energy in the style of real Goddesses, would bring happiness and great energy to any home. The recent exhibit of her artwork at World Art Dubai, 2022 was a huge success. Lauryn was named an Artist in Residence at Radisson RED for the month of March, where she has been creating custom designs and bespoke pieces of artwork for their hotel lobby. ■

Marina Fedorova is an artist who grew up in Russia reading science fiction. She went to art school and an academy before teaching English as a second language. Her paintings are influenced by Hollywood and include stars. Growing up in the Soviet Union, she was fascinated by space and her interest in space grew as she watched movies and read literature. Marina did not have to brainstorm on her name, "Cosmodrames" came to her. Her desire to build anything out of space, which eventually transformed into COSMODRAMES, was sparked by her dream for space. It is a large-scale project that will be displayed in a traveling exhibition. The project includes over 100 paintings and dozens of sculptures. One of the pieces is a 10-foot-tall statue of a woman holding a star. Reviewers had often referred to her paintings as "snapshots of the moon." Once she began making digital art, this inspired her. It was excellent and unique at the time. She believes that artists should not be afraid of anything and should look forward to working in a group as it helps to develop spirits and creativity. ■

Art in the meta age

The launch of a new gallery section on digital art at Art Dubai this year is a chance to explore how art is moving from the metaverse to the gallery.

Written by Alice Payne

Through the COVID-19 pandemic, many have been forced to bring the growing digital art movement to the forefront. Multiple national galleries have joined forces with leading galleries who were stuck behind screens. At the same time, more traditional art institutions have been forced to adapt or completely rethink due to mounting restrictions.

There has never been a better ground for exploring new digital art technologies, and plenty of art collectors are keen to meet demand for non-fungible tokens (NFTs) that have now become mainstream, with artists such as Beeple and Grimes among the most popular names of money. As Chris Purnell, digital curator at Art Dubai explains, "We have been watching NFTs grow over the last year and a half, and it's a shift, and a small subset of digital collectors from the oligo-queens started purchasing NFTs".

Given the current interest in the metaverse and for those on the inside, we spoke to two artists working at this year's Art Dubai who work exclusively in the digital space.

For me, digital art - or the augmented reality and virtual reality formats in particular - offers me a way to express myself and my ideas in a meaningful artwork with an interactive experience," says Ramez Saghieh, artist and partner Marimee Palestine. Digital art is a term used to describe art that is created or presented using digital technology. "It's a way for the audience, and I always want to create something new that interests individual art forms," he adds.

At the moment, Saghieh is working on the upcoming Art Dubai, which will present an interactive installation called 'CosmoDreams' in collaboration with the digital artist and augmented reality will virtually disrupt allowing visitors to step into a futuristic environment where they can interact with a kind of traditional painting and sculpture techniques combined with virtual reality (VR) technologies and augmented reality.

According to Purnell, 2022 is the right time to launch such a section and exhibit the kind of digital art that is currently being produced around the world to move away from a shift, and a small subset of digital collectors from the oligo-queens started purchasing NFTs".

CosmoDreams is a digital artwork that explores the boundaries of what is possible and exploring the latest technologies new mediums bring with them. It's a way to express myself and my ideas in a meaningful artwork with an interactive experience," says Ramez Saghieh, artist and partner Marimee Palestine. Digital art is a term used to

كيف سيبدو السفر إلى الفضاء الخارجي؟ فنانة تكشف عن تحفتها بمعرض في دبي

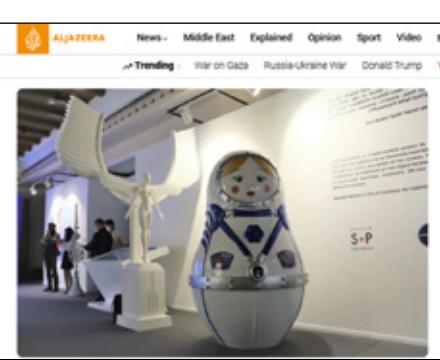

By Marlene Ghali
15 Mar 2022

Dubai, United Arab Emirates — Back with the first full-scale fair since the COVID-19 pandemic started, the 15th edition of Art Dubai is exploring new frontiers with the launch of its new section highlighting digital and NFT (non-fungible token) art.

Alongside the regular contemporary and modern showcases, Art Dubai Digital gathered 18 galleries from March 10-13 at Madinat Jumeirah, some of which were only founded in the last few years. The new section was created in response to a serious shift in the global art scene, which has seen increasing interest in digital mediums and the rise of NFT art.

وأضافت مغيرة: "الفنون الرقمية هي إضافة ملهمة لفن التصوير والفنون البصرية، وهي تفتح آفاقاً جديدة في عالم الفن. إنها تتيح للمبدعين إمكانات غير مسبوقة ل выражة أفكارهم ورؤاهم."

وقالت الفنانة: "أنا سعيدة بـArt Dubai Digital因为这是我的第一个数字作品，我非常自豪能够将其展示给全世界。我期待与来自世界各地的观众分享我的艺术作品，并从他们的反馈中获得灵感。"

The A.R.M. Holding Children's Programme features artist-led workshops for children aged 5-12 years. With a focus on sustainability, the programme will be led by Kenyan artist Cyrus Kabiru, who will work with participants to retrieve and repurpose everyday materials from their homes and schools, transforming them into works of art.

The first A.R.M. Holding Children's Programme takes place at Art Dubai before expanding to take place in 80 schools - reaching more than 5,000 children across Dubai.

Art Dubai has launched Campus Art Dubai 9.0 Blockchain Edition, a new eight-week NFT strand within the fair's education programme. Powered by Materica, the course was led by a host of local and global leading experts in the blockchain and NFT art sector and supported by UAE and international artists. They will showcase their works at this year's edition.

'Speculative Links' commissioned by and in partnership with Warehouse48 and Saloma Bint Hamdan Emerging Artist Fellowship (SEAF), will also be on exhibit.

Curated by Maryam Al Dabbagh and Mays Albaik, the show presents a selection of works from the fellowship's eight-year tenure. Including painting, textile, video and photography, it will reflect a collective questioning of memory in relation to place, time and a sense of rhythm and repetition.

When Is Art Dubai? Everything You Need To Know...

BY ANDREA L. GOLDBERG / MARCH 01, 2012

Share /

Reflecting the cosmopolitan identity of the city, with masterpieces from over 100 galleries and a new digital section, this year's Art Dubai will prove exactly why it's much more than just a fair...

Art has long been a powerful form of expression in the region. In Dubai's younger years, as galleries were being established and neighbourhoods like Al Fahidi blossomed into cultural hubs, artists started having specific spaces where they could express their voices. But there was an even bigger dream in the works - to bring all these platforms together under one roof.

For over 10 years now, foreigners and collectors from across the globe have seen Art Dubai grow as a place to celebrate trends, discover old masters and emerging talent alike, and nurture conversations about the immense creativity hailing from the Global South. Each year, the platform showcases a curated selection of cultural masterpieces all in one place, cementing Dubai's position as an international hub for innovation and as a large contributor to global dialogue on contemporary art.

2024 JINGART艺览于北京SKP-S 4层A07，当代艺术家玛丽娜·费德洛娃（Marina Fedorova）携作品“宇宙之梦——新生”，继2022和2023年在中国举办的数次展览之后，今年首次在中国办展。展览将持续至5月26日。

展览将再次展示了玛丽娜·费德洛娃对于宇宙、时间和空间、色彩、线条、形状、光影等元素的综合运用，以抽象风格（形式）为切入点，通过视觉、听觉、触觉、味觉等多感官体验，带领观众进入一个充满神秘与想象的世界。此次展览不仅融合了传统的光学原则（Anton Gaudí 的视觉效果），同时也融入了数字技术与传统工艺的结合，展示了科技与人文的完美碰撞。

当日的展览现场热闹非凡，人潮涌动。艺术家、企业家、媒体和艺术爱好者纷纷到场，还有许多策展人、艺术机构和使馆工作人员前来参观和采访。玛丽娜非常高兴见到了许多老朋友和新朋友，与他们分享创作过程、交流对艺术的见解。

充满了未来感和科技感的展览，令观众们赞叹不已。大家纷纷拿出手机，或使用展位上的头戴设备，迫不及待地体验隐藏在作品中的AR/VR内容，开启艺术与科技融合的奇幻之旅。

整个展览不仅展示了玛丽娜的艺术创作，还通过高科技手段增强了与观众的互动，让大家能够深入探索每件作品的细节，亲身体验艺术创作的魅力和科技创新的无限可能。

Shanghai dynamic art market attracts overseas artists

By Bill

Shanghai's art market is maturing and evolving rapidly as Chinese buyers increase their spending power, driving interest in bringing their acquisitions to the art world, says Maria Pedraza, art director and chief executive.

Spanish, contemporary artist Matilde Pedraza has exhibited six artworks at the 20th ART021 Shanghai Contemporary Art Fair, which runs through March 16 at the Shanghai Exhibition Center, will present a joint exhibition with her artworks from her "Crossed dreams" series, running April 12-14 at the newly opened ART021 official offices.

As an intern with ShanghART gallery in 2008, she was one of the first to "discover" the art scene of China.

"It's so impressive that many collectors, particularly international ones, have been coming to China for more than 10 years," she said.

"It's the best place where you can still paint art as you are painting and hungry for it," she said.

"For me, it's very appealing because it's a place where I can show and share my artwork, and China is a part of me," she said.

Pedraza started creating the "Crossed dreams" in 2007, seeing no other works a special dimension expressive with diverse approaches," she said.

The series provides an opportunity to express the artist's culture, and reflects the artist's thoughts on life, beliefs and values, as well as her dreams and aspirations of overseas Chinese.

One of her paintings, titled "Alice," plays tribute to Valentine Foundation, former social crusader and the foundation's founder.

"Alice" depicts the "Mystery of the Thin Thread" and the "Mysteries of the Heart," the most of the time spent in the future, expressing more love and more dreams.

"Crossed dreams" is a different sculpture, featuring a man wearing green hair, showing the failing condition of the human body.

Modern technology is being applied to the project, using a combination of digital and analog media, which is related to the bodies of the people, both family and old ones.

"I am always thinking about the human body, its mind, spirit, and soul, and generation."

Pedraza has deep roots in China. She studied at the University of Shanghai for the Technology and the Institute of Fine Arts, and the last 10 years she has been traveling around the country.

"I like art, it's a special language that can speak to people without words, and it's a way to communicate with others," she said. "We have cultural differences, but we can communicate with the Chinese audience."

"I've learned Chinese culture, language, customs of every country, and other techniques have big impact on me."

The image of Chinese drag queen is the metaphor to be "a noble, heroic and friendly human."

"She needs to be a dragon or a dragon-like creature working on China," she said.

"She is a very courageous character and I found the dragon to be a symbol of the Mi-Aurora Award, very inspiring," she said.

Chinese motifs

Another of her latest works, "Chrysanthemum in the Wind," depicts a woman both family and old ones.

"I am always thinking about the human body, its mind, spirit, and soul, and generation."

Pedraza's work is based on the history of time and space, and the figures' generations of people.

"I spent quite some time in China, and I fell in love with it and I always like to bring art to people that think about China and its culture," she said. "Beautyfulness is a permanent influence in art because it's a reflection of the beauty of nature and the beauty of southwest China's landscape."

For me, it's very appealing. Because every artist wants to show and share his or her artwork, and China is a perfect place for exhibitions.

The art fair also had the largest number of international exhibitors in Shanghai in the coming year.

It includes the announcement of the development of the art market, and is on track to become one of the top global art events, according to the fair's website.

According to the annual report on art markets in 2012, released in September, China is the second largest art market in the world, after the United States, with sales of $4.5 billion.

今年下半年,俄罗斯当代艺术家玛丽娜·费德洛娃(Marina Fedorova)的大型艺术体验项目“宇宙之梦”(Cosmodreams)开启了其世界巡游中国的旅程。项目在2022年第四届ART021上海廿一当代艺术博览会首次亮相,并获得了广泛关注和好评。玛丽娜还将在中国开展更多精彩的项目。

ART021是亚洲最具活力、最有远见且最不可替代的艺术博览会之一。本次展览尝试了一个奇葩的“宇宙之梦”,让观众初步了解了整个艺术项目的主要概念。六件作品在内部上沐浴在月光下,“宇宙之梦”中希望传达的是胸怀、女性力量、关注环境和后代等理念。表现形式上采用了数字媒介,均体现了玛丽娜与时代对话的艺术视野和多层次的创作手法。

博览会第一天,玛丽娜充满奇思妙想的数字艺术创作吸引了许多观众。不少收藏家、艺术机构和艺术专业人士,也到场进行了互动体验。尽管遭遇了当前疫情的挑战,本届ART021依旧坚持开放,展示了玛丽娜对这一艺术界的持续贡献,并与大家共同前行。展会中止,但艺术探索永不止步。

明年,玛丽娜还将携手Sputnik Partners参加成都UIC博会。“宇宙之梦”大型个展也在索罗基为她量身打造,希望艺术项目与中国新兴文化的交流碰撞,将中国观众带来多元的当代艺术形式和艺术思维。一场别开生面的宇宙体验展,一次耳目一新的艺术体验即将到来。

“宇宙之梦”包含七个章节,是一个集绘画、装置、影像、跨界艺术及互动装置于一体的大型艺术项目,为观众打造关于“未来宇宙”的沉浸式艺术体验。它从不同层面反映艺术家对宇宙空间、科技进步、社会适应、女性力量和后代遗产等问题的看法,与我们当下的时代息息相关。

“宇宙之梦”正在全世界巡回展出。2020年9月,首站在俄罗斯最大的私人当代艺术博物馆——圣彼得堡艾尔米塔什博物馆开幕,展览获得了巨大成功,总参观人数超过47万人,参观655个国家,接待了来自全球的游客。2022年3月,“宇宙之梦”在迪拜艺术节(Art Dubai)上全新开启的斯拉维亚区域亮相,为8000多名观众带来难忘的艺术体验。全世界超过40多个国家和地区通过线上直播进行了专题报道,包括Vogue和Marie Claire,展览话题率和率超过了1亿人次。

而“宇宙之梦”终于来到了中国,玛丽娜有幸参加了亚洲数字艺术展(ADAE, 2022年9月24日至11月13日),作品《地球母亲》(TrashMadonna)首次亮相北京时代美术馆,这是玛丽娜的作品第一次在中国展出。

(地球母亲)源于玛丽娜对人类生存环境问题、过度消耗自然资源等一系列生态问题的关注,大面积引入AR特效技术,让观众置身于艺术家创造的氛围当中,直面生存环境危机。感受当下深刻行动的紧迫性,各个媒体都对展览进行了详细报道,讨论热度不断攀升。

十一月,在ART021上海廿一当代艺术博览会上,玛丽娜携手艺术孵化器Sputnik Partners呈现了主题作品集,展出“宇宙之梦”的部分作品,包括装置、3D打印模型、影像和AR/VR数字艺术等。

Художесвенные салоны
всё сильнее становятся заметно в менеджменте культурной сферы Петербурга

Многие из них вправду являются профессиональными художниками, но не всегда они это признают. Их можно встретить в самых разных местах: в залах музеев, на выставках, в галереях, в зданиях культурных центров и концертных залов, в парках и скверах, в центрах культуры и на улицах. Всё это делает их привлекательными для различных организаций и компаний, которые хотят использовать их как инструмент для продвижения своих товаров и услуг. Но что же это за люди? И каким образом они могут помочь в развитии культуры и искусства?

Вот несколько примеров, на которых можно увидеть, как художественные салоны помогают в развитии культуры и искусства.

Одним из таких примеров является художественный салон «Арт-Клуб», который был основан в 2000 году. С тех пор он проводит множество выставок, мастер-классов и семинаров по различным направлениям искусства. Более того, он является одним из самых известных и авторитетных художественных салонов в России.

Также стоит отметить, что художественные салоны могут помочь в развитии культуры и искусства, проводя различные мероприятия, такие как концерты, спектакли, выставки и т. д. Важно отметить, что эти мероприятия должны быть направлены на продвижение культуры и искусства, а не на单纯的 продажу товаров или услуг.

Важно подчеркнуть, что художественные салоны являются важным инструментом для продвижения культуры и искусства, а также для развития культуры и искусства в целом. Их значение не может быть недооценено.

Дополненная реальность, космический видеоарт и интерактив – в Эрарте открылась иммерсивная выставка Cosmodreams

Выставочный проект Cosmodreams – это экспериментальный замысел художника Марины Федоровой, чьи работы хранятся в фондах Эрмитажа, Русского музея и музея современного искусства Эрарта. С помощью традиционного искусства и цифровых технологий автор погружает зрителей в космическую цивилизацию, передает ее красоту и размашистость о последствиях технического прогресса. Экспозиция объединяет картины и скульптуры художника, арт-объекты и проекционные изображения. Иммерсивный эффект усиливает специально написанная для проекта музыка и отдельный видеотур в высоком разрешении 8K.

Кроме того, для посетителей доступно мобильное приложение, с помощью которого можно рассмотреть сквозь картины под разными углами: камера смартфона улавливает изменения положения в пространстве относительно холста и не только. Платформа позволяет интегрировать скульптуры коллекции в любой интерьер, изменять их размер и ракурс, а также делать селфи в виртуальных масках в виде различных шлемов.

Выставка в музее современного искусства Эрарта открыта до 1 ноября
